you can quote them, disagree with them, glorify or vilify them, about the only thing you can't do is ignore them - because they change things...
... they push the human race forward,
while some may see them as the crazy ones, WE SEE GENIUS, because the people who are crazy enough to think that they can change the world, are the ones who do !!!.

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

- With high unemployment and slow economic growth still prevalent across many parts of Europe, the number of job vacancies available is significantly less than the number of job seekers looking to fill them.

This means that;

- Employers now have a much boarder pool of candidates to choose from when advertising a job (Average 18 applicants per job advertised)
- Employers are setting much higher expectations of the standards and qualities they expect from potential candidates
- You need to learn how to “stand out from the crowd”.

WHAT DO YOU OFFER THAT IS DIFFERENT OR UNIQUE !!!!

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

What influences consumer spending !!

- As a consumer – what makes you engage with a particular company, product or service?
- What makes you go back and re-engage with that company, product or service?
- How many times have you gone back and used that company again?
- How many people have you told about your experiences?
- How does that company, product or service market itself and does this continue to influence your spending choice?

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

In the same way that you demand a high level of value and quality when purchasing goods or services as a consumer

- You should, as a potential employee, be equally as demanding when it comes to choosing where you want to work !!!
- Businesses who treat potential employees like potential customers will always succeed in recruiting the best people !!

FOLLOW THE 3 STEP RULE !!!!!

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Step 1 - Be clear what it is that you want

Sounds obvious, but before you think about looking at and / or approaching a potential employer about a job, ask yourself the following 5 questions.

1. What are my career goals?
2. Are these goals realistic in relation to the skills, experience and qualifications I currently have?
3. If not - what do I need to go and do in order get the right skills, experience and qualifications?
4. Do I have a clear expectation of what I want to get from my next job?
5. Do I know the sort of company that will help me achieve my goals?

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Step 1 (Con/t...) - Be clear what it is that you want

Some actions to take;

Prepare a 'boundaries' list

- Sector
- Location
- Work Style
- Hours
- Salary
- Benefits

Detail your 'Work Preferences'

- Likes
- Dislikes

Build a 'Personal Pitch Statement'

- Clear
- Concise
- Compelling

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Step 2 – Do your research

With any business reputation is the key to success and most businesses don't mind telling you when they are good at something. However, some simple things to consider when looking at a potential employer include;

1. How long have they been in business
2. Do they conform to any industry standards and / or won any awards
3. What do other people say about them
4. How do they promote themselves in the marketplace
5. What are there corporate aims / mission statement – does this fit with your own ecology
6. Read company annual reports
7. Are you able to visit the company before you apply for a job to “see for yourself”

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Getting information off the Internet is a bit like taking a drink from a fire hydrant

Mitchell Kapor

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Step 3 – Demonstrating your understanding of the job role

It's amazing how many people apply for jobs simply because the job title or salary package is attractive, but have spent no time understanding what the employer is actually looking for.

HAVE YOU

1. Fully read, understood and picked out the key aspects of the job from the job advert and does this actually match your skills and qualifications?
2. Within reason, have you tailored your CV and covering letter to fit with the job advertised?
3. Asked for and received from the potential employer a detailed job description which you have read and fully understood?

Make sure you stand out from the crowd

Dear Hiring Manager,

In respect of your recent advertisement, I wish to apply for the position of Assistant Manager at David's Coffee House and have, as a first step in exploring the possibilities of employment with your company, attached my CV for your consideration.

As you will see from my CV, I am currently employed within a supervisory role having been promoted from customer service assistant. Within this role, I am responsible for the management and development of 6 customer service staff, and ensuring a high level of service is provided to all customers.

Throughout my studies, I worked within the hospitality sector as waiting and bar staff working as part of a team to serve customers within the restaurant and bar.

As a self-motivated and customer focused individual, I am passionate about customer service and committed to providing a high level of service to all guests.

I feel that the opportunity as Assistant Manager with David's Coffee House would offer me the opportunity to utilise and develop my skills, and support my drive and commitment to progressing with a forward thinking company.

I would like to thank you for taking the time to read my covering letter and CV, and would welcome the opportunity to discuss this role in more detail with you.

I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Yours faithfully

Preparing for the Interview

1. Be clear on what type of interview you are going for

Knowing how you will be interviewed, and what stages the prospective employer is planning before a final selection is made, is critical when preparing for your interview.

Different interview styles include;

1. Competence - based interviews
2. Panel interviews
3. 1-2-1 interview
4. Initial Telephone / Skype screening
5. Assessment Centres

Preparing for the Interview

2. Do more research

Start to build on the initial research that you undertook at the application stage. This research should focus on more specific details such as;

1. Getting the background on who you will be meeting at the interview (LinkedIn)
2. What products and services do they offer / what is their USP
3. How the business is performing (financially, market position etc.)
4. Who its competitors are
5. Linking to social media feeds, websites, online reviews, company reports etc.
6. Linking to websites such as Glassdoor, Milkround, The Job crowd who may feature a more detailed company profile
7. Speaking to someone you know who is already working in the company

Preparing for the Interview

3. Make sure you know “YOU” inside out

One of the common mistakes people make during an interview is not having a thorough understanding of their skills, experiences and abilities.

Make sure;

1. That you read and re-read your CV and covering letter in detail
2. You know what your transferable skills, experiences and abilities are
3. You are clear on the reasons why you applied for the job / want to work for the company that's interviewing you
4. You are ready for the killer interview question
5. You have a selection of success stories / examples that you can use in an interview that demonstrates these skills and experiences

Preparing for the Interview

3. (con/t) Make sure you know “YOU” inside out

Make sure you have a selection of success stories / examples that you can use in an interview that demonstrates these skills and experiences ;

Some actions to take;

It's the story of 'YOU' that needs to be sold !!

Develop a series of 200 word 'achievement statements' that sells you, your experiences, your skills, your attributes. Follow the STAR system;

- S – Situation
- T – Task
- A – Action Taken
- R – Result

Preparing for the Interview

4. Be prepared to ask questions

An interview is a two way process so do not be frightened to ask questions, challenge comments or seek clarity – its all part of the process and employers expect it.

Questions to use / consider are;

1. What focus do you place on staff development
2. How do you support the career aims of your employees
3. How do you monitor performance / how regularly do you feedback to employees
4. How would current employees describe the management style of the business
5. What are the staff turnover levels

5. Making that all important “first impression”

Its easy to remember researching the company, working through the detail of your CV and knowing why it is that you applied to that business in the first place, but don't overlook the importance of “brand-you”.

1. What does your body language say about “brand-you”
2. What does your dress sense say about “brand-you”
3. What does your ability to manage interview nerves say about “brand-you”

Being effective at interview

1. Avoid making some of the common pitfall mistakes

Don't make it any harder on yourself than it already is. Stick to the 7 basic rules below;

1. Plan the interview day carefully – allow more time than you think for travel etc.
2. Be in control of “you” during the interview – be in the room / listen and clarify questions
3. Take time to answer questions properly – don't jump in feet first !!
4. Don't waffle, forget to answer the question fully or say 'I' !!!
5. SELL, SELL, SELL !!! – show passion, enthusiasm, confidence & purpose in your answers
6. Remember to always ask questions
7. Stay professional to the end the very end !!!

Feedback, feedback, feedback

1. Never underestimate the power of feedback

But be careful what you ask for, how you ask for it and most importantly of all what you do with it afterwards.

1. Determine whether it is actually worth asking for feedback
2. Learn how to ask for feedback and leave a positive impression when you do
3. Learn how to handle the feedback
4. Feedback is an opportunity to learn (good or bad) – don't waste it !!!
5. Get a second opinion

6 key steps to finding & securing the right job

“ Find a career you love and you will never work again !!!“

The value of work experience

- Work experience should be regarded as a critical part of your learning and development.
- At the time of recruitment, employers will generally favor those graduates who have complimented their academic studies with industry experience.
- Work experience is an opportunity for you to;
 - ✓ Learn first hand what the industry has to offer
 - ✓ Balance academic theory with practical hands on experience
 - ✓ Set realistic career goals
 - ✓ Make mistakes in a safe environment
 - ✓ Help understand what direction you want to take your career in

Don't stop learning – don't stop being better

- Once you have graduated your exposure to learning should only have just started, always encourage yourself to take every opportunity that you can to further your skills, experiences and qualifications throughout your career.
- A good way of doing this is to register with the professional body that supports the sector you choose to go into.

Benefits of this include;

- ✓ Access to up to date industry information and business resources
- ✓ Management & Development Guides to help you through your career
- ✓ Access to discounted CPD tools and training
- ✓ Industry networking events
- ✓ Recognition from your industry peers

C

No such thing as failure

learn, adapt, take risks and always try again !!!

“So many people live their lives at the mercy of fear.

They play it safe and they take no risk;

and while they may end up with less bumps and bruises along the way, their life is often starved of magic.

And so it must be said;

that the person who doesn't risk anything,

in fact - risks everything ”

[Teal Swan]

No such thing as failure

[Colonel Sanders] – 1009 restaurants said “NO” to his chicken recipe ... No:1010 said Yes – KFC are now one of the largest global fast food brands !!

[Walt Disney] – In 1919 the Kansas City Star Newspaper fired him for “lacking imagination” and “having no good ideas” – by 1923 Walt Disney and his brother had set up the Disney Cartoon Company the rest, as they say, is history ☺ !!

No such thing as failure

[Thomas Edison] – 1000 failed experiments –
Experiment 1001 the lightbulb !!!

[Sahar Hashemi] – in 1995 she was turned down by 19 banks whilst trying to secure funding to set up the UK's first Coffee Shop chain – by 1997 Coffee Republic was turning over £30m
